

'They Just Want Your Dues'

The Benefits are All Yours

Delta AFA is created by you and for you. The dues you pay supports your efforts to negotiate a contract, and gain legal advice and training through your Local and Master Executive Councils. A smaller portion supports the legal, contract and legislative work of the national union, which also benefits you.

How Your $43 Monthly Dues Are Spent

MEC & LEC services, including negotiations, legal, training, etc.

$33.72

78%

AFA services including Government Affairs, Safety & Health, Communications & Research

$9.28

22%

First, Ratify a Contract

Unless you've ratified a legally binding contract, you don't pay any dues. This is an important distinction for the pre-merger Delta flight attendants who've never had representation. That's one reason why AFA is the best. Under the AFA Constitution, you get legal protections in a contract before you spend one dime for legal representation.

Delta AFA is a Bargain

Having representation means peace of mind for your career, and a leading voice in your profession. That $43 a month is a small price to pay for that sense of security, legal advice and support, and a legally binding contract that sets out your pay, benefits and work rules – and cannot be changed on an executive's whim.

VOTE DeltaAFA Representation

Opportunity. Unity. Respect.